When Good Friends Gather

The singing and dancing choruses combine to produce one of the biggest hit numbers of the play - "When The Idle Poor Become The Idle Rich."

Finian's Rainbow

"Finian's Rainbow" was the spring musical sensation presented by the Cap-n-Bonnet Players of Malvern and Villa Maria. For three performances, April 30, May 1 and May 2, the Malvern Field House echoed the laughter and applause of the pleased audiences.

The play was a difficult one to perform, but every actor, dancer and singer did his utmost to make the play a hit.

Bouquets are due to Miss Margaret Looney, who taught the tricky dance routines, Sister St. Eileen, who coached the chorus to perfection, and Father Gilligan whose superb direction and dynamic energy made "Finian's Rainbow" the best musical presented by Cap-n-Bonnet Players.

Senator Rawkens, J. Baney, learns that gold has been discovered on McLonergan's land.

Finian McLonergan, J. Flanigan, arrives in Rainbow Valley with his daughter Sharon, M. L. Hetherington.

Turn Dramatic

P. Withington gets the finishing touch of makeup from Alice Norpel.

Behind-the-scenes men J. Culhane, J. Dougherty and A. Jacobs set the stage for curtain time.

On Nov. 29 and Nov. 30, the Cap-n-Bonnet Players came through with another fine performance. This time it was "The Far-Off Hills", a comedy in three acts with an all Senior cast. The play was presented in the Activities Building at Villa Maria Academy.

Between the acts, the Malvern-Villa Maria Glee Club delighted the audiences with some all-time hits.

THE CAP-N-BONNET SOCIETY is the combined dramatic society of Malvern and Villa Maria. Besides the production of the Fall play and the Spring musical, the Society sponsors a dance, a banquet, and a May procession. Highlights of the banquet are the election of officers for the following year, and the selection of "Miss Villa Maria" and "Mr. Malvern".

Less known members of the Society are the stage crews. These unsung heroes of the productions are the unseen members of the Society who work behind the scenes so quietly and efficiently.

CAP-N-BONNET OFFICERS

The Society is also active in charitable works. At Thanksgiving and Christmas, the members contribute not only money and groceries, but also their time making holiday baskets of good cheer for deserving and needy families.

After the Spring musical the Society donated $1,000 to the Malvern Chapel Fund, and an equal amount to the Building Fund of Villa Maria.

To Father Francis Gilligan, the director and moderator of the Society, and to Sister St. Eileen, the choral director, both schools owe a great debt of gratitude for their organization of the Cap-n-Bonnet Players and their wonderful cooperation in the life of the Society.

Who among us will ever forget the memorable climax, our Senior Prom, at which, after a day filled with the festivities which accompany graduation, we gathered to take part in the last school-sponsored occasion of the year. For there, dancing in the soft June air, with that mood of carefree happiness surrounding us, we experienced joys not soon to be forgotten.

With Our Best Foot Forward

The Tribute House jumps with jive as Bill O'Neill lets out with "Go, Go, Go."

We the Class of '52 can look back on no finer set of dances than those which we enjoyed so thoroughly during our senior year. Sponsored by the Student Council, they enlivened every season of the calendar with their unsurpassable social perfection. From October to June the student body was able to attend enjoyably six gala affairs, the Harvest Dance, Soph Hop, Junior and Senior Proms, Cap-n-Bonnet Dance, and spring Alumni Dance.

Opening the school's social calendar was, of course, the informal Harvest Dance in autumn, held in the lavishly and rustically decorated field house, where ninety couples enjoyed the music of the orchestra of Kent Lenahan. By the time winter had left and spring had rolled around again, the success of this first dance had been duplicated twice, in the Soph Hop, and again in the semi-formal Junior Prom held in April. Again in April the Alumni Association, after many hours of creative preparation, which included artistic displays and posters, lush decorations, and cooling refreshments, presented their spring informal. The purpose of this dance was to introduce the Class of '52 to the Alumni Association. In mid-May, upon the successful presentation of the dramatic society's spring production, the group sponsored the Cap-n-Bonnet Dance, another spring highlight enjoyed both by students of Malvern and Villa Maria Academy.

WILLIAM SPROWLS
Captain

Led by that colorful player from Mexico City, Bill Sprowls, winner of the 1952 Boys Middle Atlantic Tennis Tournament, the Blue-White netmen of '52 deserve a lot of credit. Although their record is not outstanding, it reflects the spirit and determination of the squad. Having practised with limited facilities, they lacked only the experience that comes with many hours of practice.

Credit is also due to Fr. Fenton (Moderator) and Mr. Kenney (Coach), whose efforts groomed a fine team.

Varsity Track

The product of three years of hard work and the untiring encouragement on the part of Coach Jim Tuppeny, the 1952 track team started the year in a conqueror's roll. Under the captaincy of Paul Mita and Phil Trainer, the team displayed both the ability and the will to win. Many onlookers of practices and meets spoke of the amazing support and help that the members of the team displayed among themselves.

The year's record of six wins and one loss in dual meets set high hopes for the coveted Interacademic Championship. Hopes reached higher peaks as Murphy, Hoffner, Huver and Trainer captured the Interac Mile relay at the Penn Relays. On May 30 the effort of three years of hard work aimed at winning the Interac Championship Meet fell two points short of capturing the title. The defeat was a stunning blow to a team that may never be equalled with so many spirited players and fine trackmen.

To Malvern this team brought the Catholic State Championship in the Class C division for the second successive year; but even more valuable, this team left the spirit that will eventually lead to even greater laurels for Coach Jim Tuppeny and his future teams.

Varsity Baseball

"If you don't succeed, try, try again." Malvern's Friars did just that; and they finally came through with a winning combination to break the losing streak of two years. Although the team came through with only four victories in fourteen games, many of the games were lost by a slight margin, and the team showed excellent spirit sparked with the good pitching arm of Charlie Kovacs and the fine coaching of Stan Joworowski.

1951-52

STANLEY JAWOROWSKI
Coach

Malvern's 1951-52 basketball team, although packed with good material and the fine coaching of Stanley Jaworowski, failed to capture the coveted Interac crown. Finishing in second place, the team just failed to click in the important games, losing two in a row to champion Penn Charter and one to a fine Haverford squad. Perhaps the reason for the team's letdown was the numerous injuries that Coach Jaworowski's squad received.

The scoring of the team was hot and cold, with Co-captain Joe Huver and Ed Robinson carrying the load most of the season, and Joe Missett and Henry Corcoran setting a strong scoring pace at the end. The team's ball-handling was placed under the care of Dan Cahill and Co-captain Tom Collins.

The season record of nine wins and six losses was a "topsy-turvy" one with wins over strong teams and losses to weak teams.

The following boys were awarded with All-League berths: Joe Huver, first team; Tom Collins and Joe Missett, second team; Ed Robinson and Henry Corcoran, honorable mention.

120 Lb. Team

The members of the 120 team did not fair so well as their big brothers, the 135 pounders. In fact, a glance at the record shows five losses and no victories, a very sad record for any team in any school. In fairness to the team, it must be said that sickness took its toll among the 120 coaching staff and the players. In losing, however, the performances of certain players added a ray of hope that success would be theirs if they exhibit the same amount of enthusiasm and fight as they did this past season.

135 Lb. Team

Spirit, fight and experience are the words to describe this talented team. Their hussle for Coach Andy Ronon was a tribute to both the coach and the school. Fighting hard for every victory, the team can boast of an undefeated season with one tie. The victories, with great show of strength in the last quarter of each game, set high hopes in the hearts of all Malvern rooters for even greater things of a future varsity squad.

Varsity Football Seoson of 1951

The participation of the Class of '52 in sports is perhaps best exemplified by the part it has played in football. All through their first three years the boys displayed promise of a great varsity in their last year. So it was no wonder that all but one of the 1951 edition first string were seniors. The team, under the always capable direction of Coach Stanley Jaworowski, was well on its way to Malvern's first Interac crown, when it lost a heart-breaker to a spirited Haverford eleven by the score of 6-0. This was the team's only Interac defeat as the Friars conquered Penn Charter 6-0, Germantown 6-0, and Episcopal 21-20, to wind up the season in the second place slot.

Rival coaches had nothing but praise for the team, as they placed Halfback Bill Dempsey, Maxwell Award winner, and his team mates Henry Friedel and Tom Agnew on the All-Interac first team. Halfback Gordon Heeke made second team, while End Ray Dietrich and Guard Dick Barnes received honorable mention.

STANLEY JAWOROWSKI
COACH

Anyone who witnessed any of the Friars games can testify to the wonderful teamwork these boys received from such stalwarts as Harry Williamson, Len Dagit, Paul Mita, Bill Corr, Roger Valerio, Joe Huver, John Baney, Jim Flannigan, and Joe Hoffner.

1952 Malvernian

Malvern's annual, the MALVERNIAN, has again preserved the memories of another school year. Complimented by a larger retinue than usual, the yearbook has a variety of styles, demonstrating the versatility of the staff and lending sparkle and wit to the finished product. Having spent many hours of toil on this publication, the staff has succeeded in compiling a book of pleasant recollections for the graduate now and in years to come.

Malvern's newspaper, the Friar's Lantern, this year put out nine sterling issues. A monthly periodical, the paper informs the student body of the current school happenings. Through editorials, news, and campus chatter, the "Lantern" forms a diary of the school year.

Father-Son Organization

Fr. Dennis congratulates Loyalty Award winners, Mr. John Flynn and Tommy Collins.

Once again the Father-Son Organization of Malvern was responsible for an enjoyable social year. Through the untiring efforts of the various committees, the organization again sponsored the Annual Banquet, Family Day, and Award Night.

The officers for the past year included Mr. Frank Mita, President; Mr. John Flynn, Vice-president; Mr. Marshall Halphen, Secretary; Mr. Paul Greenhalgh, Treasurer.

As is traditional with the Father-Son Organization, the Banquet was held in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. Notable speakers and guests included Professor R. F. McNichols, Dick Kazmaier, and Gerry McGinley. Loyalty Award winners were Mr. John Flynn and Thomas Collins.

Those who have ever attended a Family Day celebration, and who have experienced the happiness when the family is united in the love of God, will vouch that this affair is the best of the school year. After Communion and breakfast, the whole family sheds the cares of the world as they participate in shoe-kicking contests, fat-man races and baseball games.

The organization provides movies and refreshments for Award Night, an affair in which letters are awarded to deserving athletes, and which is climaxed by the presentation of the plaque for the one who shows the most school spirit in athletics. This year Harry Williamson was the winner.

Annual Retreat

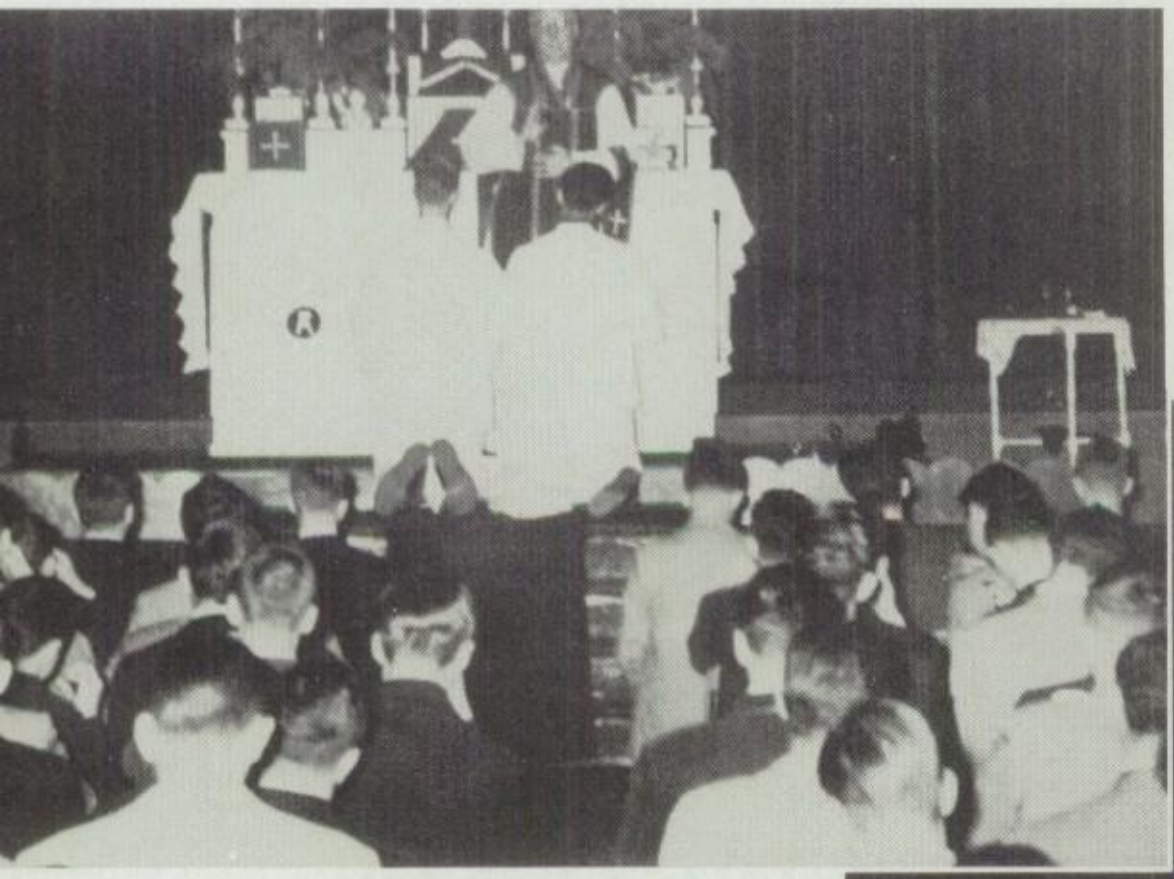
The Annual Retreat provided a fitting opening for the observance of Holy Week in April. Fr. Dennis, our headmaster, celebrated the opening Mass in the gymnasium which was transformed into a chapel for the retreat exercises.

On Monday and Tuesday the Retreat Master, Fr. Thomas Purcell, O.S.A., Vice-rector of the Augustinian Seminary at Staten Island, gave inspiring conferences based on the quotation of St. Paul, "For me, to live is Christ." Fr. Purcell emphasized the need for imitation of Christ and for Catholic Action on the part of the youth of today.

On Tuesday morning, all students attended Mass and received Holy Communion. The retreat closed Tuesday afternoon with a Holy Hour before the Most Blessed Sacrament, and the Papal Benediction by the Retreat Master.

After our spiritual renovation and fortified by the graces and indulgences received during the retreat, we left school with the feeling that we were now better prepared to celebrate the great feast of the Resurrection, and to fulfil the duties required by our Christian calling.

REV. THOMAS PURCELL, O.S.A.
Retreat Master



Fr. Dennis blesses the students during the Mass which opened the retreat on April 7.

Fr. Purcell closes the first day of retreat with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Sanctuary Society

The purpose of the Sanctuary Society is to promote a greater appreciation for the ceremonies of the Church, to serve the priest at the alter, and to aid the chaplain and sacristan in the care of the chapels and in the preparation for the various religious ceremonies.

At the first meeting held in September, Al Silva was elected president. His fellow officers were Gordon Heeke as vice-president, and Harry Williamson as secretary.

Any student accepted into the Society receives the title of Server. After two semesters of faithful service, the Server receives the title of Acolyte if he is able to serve the priest correctly at Mass and Benediction, and if he can recognize and name the vestments used at these functions.

The Acolyte of two semesters becomes a Master of Ceremonies when he can recite the Latin responses from memory, prepare the Missal for Mass and arrange the vestments for Mass and Benediction. Only the Master of Ceremonies is eligible for office in the Society.

Special certificates are awarded the Acolyte and Master of Ceremonies.

How well we remember our four happy years at Malvern . . . Freshman week . . . The singing, the bowing . . . The time Dick White thought he was getting off easy when some senior told him to run around the track with a bench over his head only to find out that a senior was sitting on it . . . Harry Williamson finds out that Father Nolan knows a little more algebra than he does . . . Jack Baney does 17 laps . . . The baseball team wins a game . . . The time Jim White did a high dive at Villanova's pool only to find out that the water had been drained . . . Father Keating proves to Bill Dempsey that French is a language . . . The time Joe Huver was early for class . . . Father Gilligan confiscates Ed Lipp's water gun . . . Tom Fant agrees with Father Eagan . . . Mike Davis disagrees with Mr. Jaworowski . . . The gun battles in the woods with Father Grifferty . . . Father Carney's "It's the easiest I ever gave" English tests . . . The tremendous interest the boarders suddenly took in classical music . . . The dances, football games, Family Days, Father-Son banquets, the Retreats, the vacations, the homework, these and many more incidents and events comprise the happy stay our class has had at Malvern.

Junior A

Class History

This year we juniors made every effort to perfect all our undertakings. Scholastically, athletically, and socially we strove to capture that fast moving Blue and White spirit that seemed to pervade the wooded atmosphere of Malvern.

Scholastically we had as always a good representation on the Honor Roll. How well we remember tangents, secants, Charles' Law, valence, and Federalists. In all our studies we tried hard, but the results were not always too enheartening.

On the athletic fields we effectively rounded out all teams. In football we placed six men on the varsity. On the hardwood court our representative was small but effective, as one of our members was placed on the second team All-Interac. Juniors also bolstered the track, baseball, and tennis teams.

Socially we became a popular group, lending support to all dances and plays. The Junior Prom, sponsored by our class, was one of the social highlights of the year.

At the end of the year we juniors looked back upon a year of accomplishment. We had sincerely tried to perfect our actions. True we did not become perfect, for perfection does not come overnight. But at least we made the attempt, and we are proud of the results.

Sophomore A

Class History

This year we sophomores truly earned the paradoxical sobriquet of all second year prep school students. Indeed we were "wise-fools" -- wise in the sense that we began to understand the meaning of our education, fools in the sense that we quite naturally performed some silly actions.

In our two years here at Malvern we have tried to study conscientiously, but many times as in the spring, we did it with great difficulty. Nevertheless, recognizing the sacrifice our parents were making to send us to a private school, we put our noses to the grind and did our best.

But our life was not all study and no play. In the process of receiving a well-rounded education we learned to see the gay side of things as well as the serious. Many were the enjoyable hours we spent as sportsmen, singers, and writers.

Although we still have rough edges, we are fast smoothing out our flaws and becoming polished Christian gentlemen.

Freshman A

Class History

When we first entered Malvern in the fall of this year, we Freshmen were beginning a new life; we were embarking upon our Prep School career. We knew that it would be difficult getting into the swing of things, for besides becoming acclimated to a new curriculum, and experiencing for the first time the instruction of priest-teachers, we had many new friends to make. Yet attaching ourselves to Malvern was easier than we thought.

Enthusiastically, we supported all school activities. Besides our regular studies we found time to participate in football, basketball, track, and tennis. The Friar's Lantern and the Malvernian were invigorated by our fresh ardor. Dances and other social functions were the recipients of our swelling school spirit.

Yes, we Freshmen began a new life, and we honestly feel that Malvern, as well as ourselves, has profited by our first year in Prep School.

Upholding the highest ideals of the school is the Student Council, a group of seniors whose function it is to present students' problems to the faculty. Among its other duties the Student Council arranges dances, enforces school rules, and fosters school spirit. By their active participation in school activities and steadfast observance of school regulations, the members of the Council set the standard for the rest of the student body.

The Guiding Love Of Parents

Close co-operation between the faculty and the parents of the students was brought about by the Malvern Parent-Teacher Association. By means of monthly meetings, the parents and teachers followed closely the academic progress of the young scholars while attending Malvern.

The meetings for the past year were highlighted by a Senior discussion concerning "Educational Acceleration," and a Science Night in which demonstrations were conducted by students of the various science courses. Notable speakers included Mr. William Brudle and Fr. Francis X. McGuire, President of Villanova College.

The officers for the past year were Mrs. John Flynn, President; Mrs. Edwin Daley, Vice-President; Mrs. Frank L. Howley, Recording Secretary; and Mrs. Francisco Mogavero, Corresponding Secretary.

To aid in the building of the new chapel, the P. T. A. donated the proceeds from their two annual card parties to the chapel fund. Both these affairs were held at the Wanamaker Auditorium.

We Are Taught Well

School days will bring back many happy memories - memories of schoolboy pranks, of friendly faces, of familiar buildings and fields. Yet the most outstanding of all our school-day recollections will be the memory of our teachers, men who have instilled in us the principles that will abide with us forever. They are responsible for what we will think, say, and do in future life. That is why we can never forget them.

Here at Malvern our faculty consists of ten Augustinian Priests, a Sister Servant of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, and three laymen. The Priests and Sister, having dedicated themselves to the service of Almighty God, ask nothing in return for their work but good Christian living on the part of the Graduates. Our lay teachers, too, by their exemplary Catholic lives, by their down-to-earth advice, and by their coaching of the various sports help to instill into our young minds principles

Dedicated To Our Dads

To our Dads, who have been the guiding light in our lives, especially during the past four years, we seniors of 1952 fondly dedicate this book. Their advice, companionship, and love have been the most cherished possession of our prep school years.

As this book binds together the Class of 1952, may it also serve as a closer link between ourselves and our Dads.

A Book Of Recollections

Foreword

We the Class of 1952 have endeavored to record in our yearbook all the scenes, sayings, and pictures that best portray our year at Malvern.

For a theme we have selected the symbolism of our school seal, with its three divisions of eagle, lamp and books, and flaming heart. The faculty are represented by the eagle, the symbol of high ideals; the classes by the lamp and books, the symbol of knowledge; and the activities by the flaming heart, the symbol of loyalty. Representing the seniors is the class ring, which like the graduates displays to the world the imprint of Malvern's seal. No more fitting close could have been chosen than the diploma, which is a visible proof to all that we have satisfactorily acquired high ideals, knowledge, and loyalty.

As you leaf through the pages of the 1952 MALVERNIAN, see how the qualities signified by our seal have been planted and nurtured in us.
